4 Public Questions and Comments

Work at Webb's Corner A resident had emailed detailed questions regarding the work at Webb's Corner prior to the meeting which had been circulated to all councillors. He also noted at the meeting that the pipe under the A327 by the Warbrook roundabout seemed always to be overlooked; and that, following a recent car crash, the headwall had collapsed. He also believed that this pipe was undersized and misaligned.

The Chairman responded that he and Cllr Todd were due to meet shortly with the Project Manager to run through phase 1 work and beyond, and will raise the resident's comments with him. The Chair explained that the aim was to complete work in St Neot's Road and Webb's Corner and then do a substantial assessment on water flow on Warbrook Lane. Once this was done, the Project Manager offered to attend a Parish Council meeting to explain in more detail what work had been done and why and what HCC's assessment was for further work. In conclusion, the Chair said he would report back to the resident and others after the meeting with HCC.

5 Burial Ground

The Council noted the very limited capacity of space for interments and that, possibly due in part to the pandemic, interments were higher than usual for the time of year.

RESOLVED

The Chairman and Cllr Dixon will visit the burial ground and assess if there is any further space which could be used for interments and will report back to the next meeting.

- a) 20/00684/OUT | Outline application for the erection of 4 no new dwelling houses within the unlisted grounds of Warbrook House | Warbrook House Reading Road

EPC Consultee response made on 9.4.2020

EPC strongly objects to the proposed development for the following reasons:

1. The site is outside the settlement boundary, so is unsuitable for any housing that is not required for agricultural, forestry or horticultural use, or a specific horse-related housing need associated with an integral "horsicultural" business.

2. The applicant has advanced an "enabling argument" stating that the profits would be entirely for the restoration of the Historic Park and Garden. However, at the open day the applicant suggested that, once Outline Permission was granted, the site would be sold. This means that only half of the "benefit" of permission would accrue to Warbrook House as enabling funds, because the developer purchasing the site would wish to make as much profit again from the development. In any event, it is probable that whatever permission might be granted, any purchaser would re-apply for more and/or larger houses, thus boosting their share and further degrading the percentage of enabling funding (see St Neot's School development as a prime example.)

3. The applicant does not appear to have met some of Historic England's criteria for grant of planning permission under the 'enabling development' case which, in the view of EPC is spurious for the following reasons:

Criterion (1) [The development] will secure the long-term future of the place and, where applicable, its continued use for a sympathetic purpose. Response: The applicants appear to have no idea how much the restoration of the Park and Garden might cost, so the housing proposal was not designed to achieve any specific need. Criterion (2) It is demonstrated that the amount of enabling development is the minimum necessary to secure the future of the place. Response: see (1) above. Criterion (3) The public benefit of securing the future of the significant place through such enabling development decisively outweighs the disbenefits of breaching other public policies. Response: The gardens would continue to be for commercial guests of the hotel rather than for the public good.

4. The proposed development includes a new access onto the western end of Warbrook Lane, when there is already an existing one to the east. This gives rise to two concerns: one is the emergence of vehicles onto a now already heavily used country lane with no footway that is very near a junction with an A road. Another is that the artificial subdivision of the site outside the Registered Park and Garden leaves an "unused" field site outside the Registered Park and Garden with its own existing highway access. The Local Planning Authority would be unable to refuse a further application for more housing on that site, were it to grant permission on this site.

5. Siting a development of this kind on the boundary of a Grade 1 Listed Building and its Registered Park and Garden would have a profoundly negative impact on both because of the visual prominence of the new housing - both looking into, and out of the Park. The possible/likely further development on the 'unused' field (see 3 above) with its own access would compound this negative impact.

6. The development is unsustainable in terms of transport. The NPPF states that the planning system should be focused on locations which are, or can be, sustainable through limiting the need to travel and offering a genuine choice of transport modes. In EPC's view, the transport statement significantly understates the amenities within walking distance as only St Neot's and Charles Kingsley's (CKS) schools are truly within walking distance. The village shop offers newspapers, a small selection of sweets and a very limited range of provisions such as milk. The nearest supermarkets, banks, pharmacies, hairdressers and other amenities for day-to-day living are at least 3 miles away. Access to these is via roads that, for substantial distances, have no footways; and the local bus services are negligible: they provide, respectively, one service a day, a 'school run' once a day in term time, and two services per day. Thus a car would invariably be needed to get to all essential amenities.

7. The turning out onto the junction with the A327 is already a dangerous point and is unsuited to additional traffic. The addition of four large dwellings would entail a further 8 cars at least, which would create further strain on an already over-used country lane.

8. Excess surface water from this site flows into an already inadequate series of ditches. Therefore, at times of sustained or heavy rainfall, the pastureland on which the development is proposed acts as a flood catchment area that protects Warbook Lane from surface water flooding.

b) 20/00150/HOU 5 Mud Lane Cottages Mud Lane

EPC Consultee response made on 15.4.2020

Erection of a two-storey side and rear extension and detached double garage. comment as per the last application.

EPC Consultee Comment: comment as per the last application: It is noted that it is in the conservation area as a notable house and to lose an architectural feature is regrettable. A minor change to keep the chimney block visible could improve the proposal.

11 Planning

To decide a response on the following:

a) PLAN/SD/HR042 Bramshill Quarry

Town and Country Planning (Environmental Impact Assessment) Regulations 2017

Scoping Opinion for Section 73 planning applications 14/00060/CMA & 14/00063/CMA to extend the life of the quarry and the associated conveyor bridge at Bramshill Quarry (SCO/2020/237 & SCO/2020/0246)

The works at Bramshill Quarry are substantial and have a far-reaching effect on the life of the residents of Eversley and a wider, but equally significant impact on the immediate environment. It is important to note that Eversley is different from many – perhaps most - other villages in that it has substantial mineral extraction sites located within the parish and a major road route that takes HGV site traffic right through its centre. An extension for a further five years to the life of this quarry would continue to inflict a similarly substantial, negative effect.

Please could HCC advise the potential applicants that it will expect them to liaise with the Parish Council about community benefits prior to the submission of any planning application.

Therefore EPC strongly believes that, before an extension were to be granted, the fullest and most thorough Environmental Impact Assessment is carried out. This should involve an examination of both what the current effect is of the works and what possible effects an extension would imply. The issues that EPC have identified over the years are as follows:

1. Volume of extraction. This should be identified and the implications assessed in terms of volume of traffic per day and impact on the environment. The volume of activity on this site seems to have increased substantially, which suggests that either no limits were applied before, or that they are being exceeded. Monitoring and enforcement of this aspect is essential now and into the future.
2. Traffic. The number of HGVs has increased substantially, perhaps as the number of housing developments in and around Hart have increased. These HGVs use narrow country roads that run through the centre of Eversley. They create noise, vibration and pollution and they are intimidating: some pedestrians have reported “near misses” from lorries driving too near the footways through the village, and drivers having to mount the verges to avoid damage or collision. Thus, EPC believes that numbers of lorries arriving and leaving should be limited and strictly monitored; and if practicable, to be re-routed such that they do not drive through the village.
3. For some distance from the quarry entrance, the A327 is continually covered in mud. One small business owner, and resident, commented, “Even if cleaned, it is soon in a muddy mess again. The verges are ruined and when it rains the mud runs in to the road. When following another vehicle or passing one in an opposite direction my windscreen is covered in mud . When dry it is dust in the air which gets in to your car. Open cars or cars with windows open could be at risk of grit in eyes. For many weeks the Legal speed limit signs and other information signs have been completely covered in mud and illegible....this road is very dangerous. The slippery surface signs will not help me and other drivers to stop in an emergency.” This says it all. If the site is to continue to operate for a further five years, radical action will need to be taken to redress the problem. This may entail building of concreted roads, within the site, so that the effects of wheel washing are not negated; substantial re-working of the verges; or perhaps a different site entrance and exit e.g. directly on to the A30.

EPC Consultee Comment: No comment

f) 20/00874/FUL Rycroft Stables New Mill Lane

Demolition of the existing riding school buildings and existing dwelling and erection of a new dwelling, triple garage, swimming pool and tennis court.

EPC Consultee Comment: The whole of the field to the north has been included within the residential curtilage of the development. In order to avoid the risk of future development elsewhere on the plot remote from the existing settlement, EPC's view is that the residential curtilage should be kept to the smallest possible area within the southern half of the site. The field to the north should be removed from the "red line" and outlined in blue instead, so that it is not included in any residential permission.

EPC considers that this is the largest possible house that should be accommodated on the site and that the LPA should, therefore, remove permitted development rights, so that any further extension would require planning permission.

13 Exclusion Of Public

RESOLVED

That the public be excluded from the remainder of the meeting on the grounds that exempt information, as defined in Schedule 12A of the Local Government Act 1972, relating to individuals, specifically existing staff, was likely to be disclosed.
